I will tell two stories. The first is the story of static spacetimes with black hole boundaries and the attempt to classify them. The second is the story of the Penrose inequality. I will then weave these two stories together in the setting of negative cosmological constant. This last part is a report on joint work-in-progress with A. Neves.