

We consider a nonlocal minimization problem which detects a singular interaction between measurable sets: we describe its relation with the classical minimal surface problem and discuss some regularity and rigidity features of the minimizers.